

Our Red and White window Signs Tell The Tale. Here They Are:

"The Biggest Sale in the History of Mexico is now on." "We won't Let You Go Away Disappointed; Put us to the test." "Entrance to Economy." "Thousands of Articles Underpriced."

Without doubt, without question, more people attended the opening of our big sale Wednesday than ever before were seen on a similar occasion in Mexico. And the eagerness with which they snapped up the many bargains offered was a vindication of our policy to always undersell! Everybody had money—Everybody spent money—Everybody went away happy.

But that was only a starter. The thousands of articles in this immense stock—ALL UNDERPRICED—should make every day of the sale a repetition of the opening days. Everything you buy will be a genuine bargain. Everything in stock will be sold exactly as advertised.

Spokane, Wash., Feb. 4

Out of the profits realized from three pigs, purchased a year ago, for $10 each, J. K. Smawley, a farmer living 10 miles south of Spokane, has started on a trip around the United States.

Smawley has $25 for the trip, and in addition, has the three pigs with which he started his herd. At the Lewiston (Idaho) Livestock Show a little more than a year ago he purchased the original trio of Berkshire hogs for $30 each. With a selection of their offspring he returned to the livestock show this year and his young pigs won six blue ribbons.

There was a lively demand for Smawley's young porkers and he sold 15 for $125 each, a total of $1,875. With this amount, which he characterizes as "valued," because he is raising with him a side issue to wheat farming, Smawley has started his journey, which will include stops at St. Louis, New York, Washington, Baltimore, points in the Carolinas, where he formerly lived, and in other Southern States. He will return through Texas, California and Oregon.

S. Forbush sold 80 acres near West Lick school house this week to William Pittman of Christian county, Illinois for $72.50 an acre.

The convention of the National Beekeepers' Association will convene at the Planters Hotel, St. Louis, on February 17th, for a three day session. Andrus County has quite a number of beekeepers and should be represented at this meeting.

H. C. Tucker is home from St. Louis where he saw a late Father Woody red containing a moping picture of Tom Bus, of this city, when he was showing his Tango dancing horse last month at the Denver Home Show.

The mercury fell to four below zero on Friday night. It was the coldest night of the winter.

Mrs. J. C. Deaton, of Sailing town, ship, collected forty-eight and 75 whole Island Red hens last month. Many others.

The settlements of the various road overseers of the County show an expenditure of $20,000 on the road for the year 1913, of which $20,000, in gratis donations and work.

The Mexico Special Road District expended $21,714.93 including donations to the amount of $125. The above amount does not include work donated to the amount of $200.
